Executive Summary

Virginians Against Domestic Violence & Virginians Aligned Against Sexual Assault

On behalf of Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers, the state coalitions are pleased to present this 2003 report.

The VAdata system is a unique data collection system, combining data collection on services in Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers, and including data related to the victims served by those agencies, the services provided, and the reported experiences of those victims including exposure to risk factors and strategies that have been particularly helpful (or unhelpful) in the pursuit of health and safety in the wake of an assault.

2003 is the fourth full year of statewide use of the VAdata system. Some notable observations about the data:

- The number of adults receiving face-to-face services increased by 9% from 2001 to 2002 and by another 5% from 2002 to 2003.
- The number of children receiving face-to-face services increased by 20% from 2001 to 2002 and by another 10% from 2002 to 2003.
- The number of families sheltered increased by 14% from 2002 to 2002 and by another 9% from 2002 to 2003.
- The number of families turned away from shelter specifically because the shelter was full increased by 37% from 2002 to 2003 – from 1,169 families in 2002 to 1,596 families in 2003.
- Adults receiving face-to-face services reported a sharp decline in the helpfulness of criminal sanctions:

	2002	2003
Sexual Assault Survivors
Criminal Sanctions Helpful	59%	49%
Criminal Sanctions Unhelpful	17%	22%
Domestic Violence Survivors
Criminal Sanctions Helpful	64%	47%
Criminal Sanctions Unhelpful	16%	31%

The data continue to support three priorities developed after the first full year of data collection for Virginia's response to sexual and domestic violence:

- Increase options for relocation through adding shelter space, expanding low income housing options, and providing victim assistance funds to help both sexual assault survivors and domestic violence victims re-locate quickly and without financial penalties.
- Expand services to children who have been secondary victims of sexual and domestic violence (there are currently no funds in Virginia designated for these services!) and expand education programs with children of all ages to reduce the impact of trauma on children and to prevent future violence.
- Educate the public so that the family and friends that victims and survivors turn to in times of crisis are prepared to be effective "first responders" and part of an ongoing support system that helps victims to find safety and begin healing from the effects of violence in their lives.

Overview of VAdata

By Sherrie Goggans, VAdata Project Coordinator
Virginians Against Domestic Violence

VAdata is an electronic web-based data collection system for Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers. The project was initiated in 1996 by Virginians Against Domestic Violence (VADV) and Virginians Aligned Against Sexual Assault (VAASA) with the support of Virginia state agencies, including: Department of Criminal Justice Services, Department of Social Services, and Department of Health.

The forms used for data collection are available for public view on the VAdata website at www.vadata.org. Copies of this report are available from Virginians Against Domestic Violence and may also be downloaded from the VADV website at www.vadv.org. For more information on VAdata, visit either website or contact the VADV office @ 804.377.0335 or vadata@tni.net.

The data in this report describe victims who receive services from Virginia Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers. Twenty-three Domestic Violence Programs, nine Sexual Assault Crisis Centers, and twenty-seven combined Domestic Violence Program/Sexual Assault Crisis Centers provided data in 2003.

Data are collected from victims at the time that services are provided. Following is an overview of the types of services provided.

Hotline: Most victims make their initial contact through a Hotline; many rely on a Hotline as a source of support and information on an ongoing basis.

36,396 calls (includes multiple calls from victims)

The average length of a Hotline call is 20 minutes.

Every day, approximately 108 victims contacted a hotline somewhere in Virginia.

Crisis Intervention / Brief Advocacy: These are brief, face to face contacts with victims that may occur in the courtroom, the hospital, or other community setting.

11,954 contacts (includes multiple calls from victims)

The average length of a crisis intervention is one hour.

Advocacy / Legal Advocacy (Adult or Child): Advocacy services encompass a wide variety of counseling, support, and accompaniment services provided to victims over a period of time. The number below represents the unduplicated total number of victims who received advocacy services.

13,770 (individual, unduplicated)

Victims received an average of 17 hours of service.

Shelter: Shelter is a critical service provided by many of Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers. The number below represents the unduplicated total number of women, children, and men who were sheltered.

3,535 adults & 3,205 children (individual, unduplicated)

Families stayed in shelter an average of 22 days.

Throughout this report, the data presented are based upon the number of contacts (Hotline or Crisis Intervention), or the number of unduplicated victims (Advocacy / Legal Advocacy / Shelter). Missing or incomplete data are excluded from analysis in this report. All numbers are rounded; therefore, percentages may not add up to exactly 100%.

Violence Perpetrated Against Adults

Reported to Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers

At the time services are provided, staff indicate the type of violence that led to the contact by the victim.

FV = Family Violence
SA = Sexual Assault
ST = Stalking

Staff can indicate multiple "types" of violence if, for example, a victim reports domestic violence that includes sexual violence.

The average Hotline call lasts 20 minutes and focuses on an immediate need. Advocacy services are provided over the course of several weeks or months. Victims received an average of 17 hours of service.

Hotline n=33,734
Advocacy n=8,721

Staff also assess the lifetime history of violence experienced by the victim, including abuse as a child.

Acts of Violence

History

In addition to identifying the type(s) of violence perpetrated against victims, counselors/advocates were able to ask some of the individuals to whom they provided advocacy specific questions about the acts of violence perpetrated against them.

Responses were recorded for approximately 68% of victims.

Risk Factors

When the Perpetrator is the Victim's Partner

Sexual and Domestic Violence perpetrated by the partners of victims poses a unique set of risks and service needs due to the nature of the relationship and the likelihood that the perpetrator will have continued access to the victim.

Two risk factors of particular concern to counselors/advocates are the availability of weapons and threats by the perpetrators of homicide or suicide. These factors can indicate an elevated risk of serious injury or death.

Legal Issues for Adult Victims

Reported to Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers

Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers collected specific information about victim experiences with the judicial system. Agencies provide a diverse array of legal advocacy services: some offer support with criminal proceedings; others offer support with Orders of Protection and/or civil issues, including child custody, visitation, and support; a limited number of agencies have attorneys on staff. Following is an overview of victim experiences.

Violence Perpetrated Against Children

Reported to Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers

Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers provided Advocacy services to more than 4,670 children (under age 18) during the period. These children included primary victims of violence, as well as those whose parents were victims of violence. Some were sheltered, and others received services in the community. These numbers only represent those children who received specialized services; unfortunately, funding is not yet available to provide services to all children whose parents are the victims of violence.

Children's counselors and advocates asked questions similar to those asked about adult victims to assess the ongoing risks to health and safety for children. These risks were reported by parents or by children themselves.

Perpetrators of Violence Against Adults

Reported to Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers

Adult victims receiving advocacy services were asked to describe the perpetrators of the violence committed against them.

Description of Perpetrators (n=7,764)

There were notable differences in the perpetrators' relationships to their victims when considering the type of presenting incident.

Of all victims whose perpetrators were spouses or partners, 54% of these relationships were former rather than current.

Of all victims whose perpetrators were partners, 2% were the same gender.

Receiving Advocacy Services (Legal Advocacy Included)

Reported by Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs & Sexual Assault Crisis Centers

Advocacy records are unique for each individual served by a specific agency, providing a nearly unduplicated count across the Commonwealth (an individual might be a 'unique' service recipient at more than one agency).

Description of Victims

Adult Victims Receiving Advocacy Services (Legal Advocacy NOT Included)

Victims of sexual and domestic violence often act on their own behalf prior to and in conjunction with contacting Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers. Counselors/advocates asked victims, "What strategies have you used or are you in the process of using to remove the threat of violence and/or maintain your safety?" The most commonly used strategies include:

Self Advocacy Family Violence

n=3,740

1. Seeking assistance from family or friends ❖ 74%
2. Relocating ❖ 52%
3. Calling Law Enforcement ❖ 41%
4. Using internal coping mechanisms ❖ 35%

Victims who turned to other agencies/professionals or who acted on their own behalf were asked to rate their experiences using the following scale.

1) counterproductive 2) unhelpful 3) neither helpful nor unhelpful 4) helpful 5) extremely helpful

Victim Concerns Most Often Identified

Prompted by the question, “What problems/concerns/fears does the victim express?” counselors/advocates in Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers identify the needs of the victims, including:

Basic Life Needs: transportation, childcare, disability-related needs, employment, financial needs, household security, housing, safety planning, spiritual needs

Family/Relationship Needs: impact of violence on children, on partner, on extended family

Health Needs: acute injury, ongoing physical health concerns, immediate health concerns, ongoing mental health concerns

Legal Needs: child custody, criminal, civil, defense

Trauma-Related Needs: victimization and recovery

Counselors/advocates then ask victims to identify the needs they consider most important.

While the needs of family violence, sexual assault, and stalking victims are similar in many ways, there are also distinct differences.

Services Provided

By Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers

Hotline

Hotlines are a critical point of contact for victims of sexual and domestic violence as well as their friends and family members and allied professionals. Professional calls are only considered "Hotline" calls when they relate to victims in crisis.

Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers responded to 48,529 callers whose issues included family violence, sexual assault, or stalking. Advocates responded to an additional 27,812 callers who had other types of issues.

On average, advocates responded to 209 Hotline calls daily.

FV/SA/ST Services Provided To:

Brief Crisis Intervention Contacts

Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers have many brief, face-to-face contacts with victims, friends and family of victims, and allied professionals who are working with victims in crisis. These contacts may not lend themselves to the extensive record-keeping involved in the provision of ongoing advocacy. Similar to the hotline, Programs and Centers keep a set of records on the services provided, rather than the individual receiving services.

Advocacy Services Included:

Accompaniment - Acting as an informed and supportive companion as services are delivered in the health care, social service, or criminal/civil justice systems.

Advocacy/Counseling/Support - Counseling and support delivered in a safe and confidential environment by trained counselor/advocates.

Crisis Intervention - Addressing a specific crisis in the aftermath of an assault.

Education - Teaching about the dynamics of violence, the impact of trauma and/or the context of violence.

Financial Advocacy - Providing credit counseling, housing assistance, help filing for Crime Victim's Compensation or other economic support services.

Information & Referral - Informing victims about community resources and assisting in connecting with them.

Mental Health Advocacy - Providing clinical services or coordinating those services in the community.

Safety Planning - Planning and action to meet a specific victim's safety needs.

System Advocacy - Actively helping victims to obtain what they need in community "systems" including the criminal justice, health care, social service, and other systems.

Transportation - Transporting victims and their children to access community services and/or safety.

Legal/Court Advocacy for Adults - In addition to the broad array of services above, advocates provided 48,481 hours of Legal/Court Advocacy to 3,022 victims. Services may have included: accompaniment, legal representation, and support and information for victims as they explored their legal options in both civil and criminal cases.

Advocacy for Children

During the report period, 4,670 children received services from Virginia Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers.

Shelter

Shelter is a critical, life-saving service provided by many of Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers.

During 2003, shelter was provided for 3,916 families. An additional 1,596 families requested shelter, but the shelter they contacted was "full."

Length of Shelter Stay

n=3,551 families

Virginia Domestic Violence Shelters provided shelter to an average of 417 women, children, and men each night during the year 2003.

A total of 150,447 nights of shelter were provided to adults and children who were victims of family violence, sexual assault, or stalking.

3,551 families exited shelter during this time period.

Although many families (25%) leave shelter without informing staff of their future plans, the data about future plans for the remainder illuminate the needs of families post-shelter.

Technical Notes

By Sherrie Goggans, VAdat Project Manager, Virginians Against Domestic Violence

VAdat was implemented for statewide use on October 1, 1999. Data are only from victims who used the services of Domestic Violence Programs or Sexual Assault Crisis Centers during the report period. These victims represent only a fraction of the total victims of sexual and domestic violence in Virginia.

All state-funded Domestic Violence Programs participated, and 90% of state-funded Sexual Assault Crisis Centers participated in VAdat during the report period. Of those agencies who participated, some chose not to report on all services provided.

All numbers in this report are rounded for simplicity.

Very few fields on the data collection forms are required by users. As a result, there are few fields where a 100% response rate was included in this report. Throughout the report, the response rates are included for the particular fields represented. A lack of response does not imply that the information was unknown; where there is no response, the information is considered to be incomplete.

The Virginia Family Violence & Sexual Assault Hotline at 1.800.838.8238 (v/tty) offers confidential, 24-hour support, information, and referrals to victims of sexual and domestic violence, as well as their friends, family members, and the professionals who support them. The Hotline is a joint project of VADV and VAASA.

The production of this publication was supported by a grant from the Virginia Department of Social Services. Points of view in this document are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the official position or policies of the Virginia Department of Social Services.

Funding for the development and maintenance of VAdat has been provided by the Virginia Department of Criminal Justice Services, the Virginia Department of Social Services, the Virginia Department of Health, the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act, the STOP Grants to State Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence Coalitions Program, Virginians Aligned Against Sexual Assault, and Virginians Against Domestic Violence.

VData Partners

Virginia's innovative and comprehensive data collection system, VData, has been made possible through the vision, hard work, and resources of:

- Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers and the dedicated counselors, advocates, administrators and support staff committed to serving the victims of sexual and domestic violence.
- The members of Congress who passed the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), expanding services to victims of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking and emphasizing the importance of collaboration and data collection.
- The V-STOP program of the Department of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) Victim Services Section, a VAWA funded program that has provided funding for the development and ongoing management of VData.
- The STOP Grants to State Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence Coalitions Program of the Violence Against Women Office administered through the U.S. Office of Justice.
- The Virginia Department of Social Services, Department of Health and DCJS, administrators of state and federal funding to Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers. Each agency actively participated in the development of the system, supported training and resources at the local level to facilitate implementation and provided funding for system development, maintenance and reports.
- The Office of Community Services of the Administration for Children and Families of the federal Department of Health and Human Services, administrators of the Family Violence Prevention and Services Act which has provided funding for the development and evaluation of VData.
- The Virginia Commission on Family Violence Prevention and the Office of the Executive Secretary of the Supreme Court, participants in the development of VData.
- IBM Data Management, donors of the Informix Database software that makes VData possible.
- Advanced DataTools Corporation, the VData programmers.
- The Virginians Against Domestic Violence and Virginians Aligned Against Sexual Assault Boards of Directors and staff.

VAdata is a data collection system for Virginia's Domestic Violence Programs and Sexual Assault Crisis Centers. This report highlights the calendar year 2003 data from 59 participating agencies (50 providing domestic violence services and 34 providing sexual assault services). Between January 1 and December 31, these agencies provided at least:

- 126,982 hours of group and individual counseling to adult victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking
- 24 hour intervention and referrals in response to 76,341 hotline calls
